

A Supernatural Premontion--
Story of a Railroad Engineer.

I was running a night express train, and had a train of ten cars--eight passenger and two baggage cars--and all were loaded. I was behind time, and was very anxious to make a certain point; thus I was using every exertion, and putting the engine to the utmost speed to which she was capable. It was on a section of the road usually considered the best running ground on the line, and I was endeavoring to make the most of it, when a conviction told me that I must stop.

A something seemed to tell me that to go ahead was dangerous, and that I must stop if I would save a life. I looked back at my train, and it was all right. I strained my eyes and peered into the darkness, and could see no signal of danger, and there I could see five miles in the distance I listened to the working of my engine. I tried the water, looked at the gauge, and all was right. I tried to laugh myself out of what I then considered a childish fear, but, like Banquo's ghost, it would not go down at my bidding, but grew stronger in its hold upon me.

I thought of the ridicule I would have heaped upon me if I did stop; but it was all of no avail. The conviction--for by this time it had ripened into a conviction--that I must stop grew still stronger, and I shut off and blew the whistle for breakers according. I came to a dead halt, got off, and went ahead a little way, without saying anything to anybody what the matter was. I had a lamp in my hand, and had gone about sixty feet, when I saw what convinced me that premonitions are sometimes possible. I dropped my lantern from my nervous grasp, and sat down on the track, utterly unable to stand; for there was a switch, the thought of which never entered my mind, as it had never been used since I had been on the road, and was known to be spiked, but was open to lead me off the track. The switch led into a stone quarry, whence stone for bridge purposes had been quarried, and the switch left there in case stone should be needed at any time, but was always locked, and the switch rail spiked. Yet here it was quite open, and had I not obeyed my premonition--warning--call it what you will--I should have run into it, and, at the end of the track, only about ten rods long my heavy engine and train, moving at the rate of thirty miles an hour, would have come into collision with a solid wall of rock, eighteen feet high. The consequences, had I done so, can neither be imagined nor described; but they could, by no possibility, have been otherwise than fatally horrid. This is my experience in getting warning from a source that I know not, and cannot divine. It is a mystery to me, a mystery for which I am very thankful, however, although I dare not attempt to explain it, nor where it came.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA SOLDIER.—A private letter from Charleston, speaking of the class of men in the ranks, says: "Professional men, and even the clergy, are in discharge of some duty connected with the general defense; while ladies not only with each other in restricting their expenses for dress, but give such savings in some fund to the military club, while their hands are engaged fabricating clothing and other comforts for the army. My friend Gen. Harlow, who you will recollect distinguished himself years ago in the Florida war, and more recently as President of one of our State Railways, is here in the capacity of Lieut. Governor and a leading member of the Council, informs me that the services of a company has just been accepted from his own section of the State, whose aggregate wealth is over a million of dollars. There is a single regiment now stationed at one of the forts whose destruction would put every distinguished family in the State in mourning. One of the companies there is commanded by a Minister of the Episcopal church, and has in the ranks ten divinity students. My old schoolfellow the Rev. Turner Porter, perhaps the most pious, and practically charitable clergyman in the city, (and to whom the city is indebted for one of its most useful institutions), add to his other duties the Chaplainship of one of the Volunteer Corps, composed of his old friends and colleagues doing duty on the coast.

ANOTHER SOUTHERN REMONSTRANCE.—The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard has this hit at the leaders of the secession movement: "There is no democracy in the action of the southern oligarchs. The people were rushed out of the Union without the privilege of being heard at the polls; and in Georgia the idea of the people having the right in the last resort to shape their own destinies was sneered at by Cobb and Toombs. Such things cannot endure. A revolution will take place sooner or later, which will vindicate the majesty and power of the people, and sweep the oligarchs from the face of the earth."

THE REPORTS OF STARVATION in Mississippi were not unfounded, is proved by the following remarkable statement from the Brandon (Miss.) Republican: "Major Hawkins is now on his way to the Western States to buy corn, as agent for his friends and neighbors. He showed us a list of those who had requested him to purchase for them, and also a list of those who were in a destitute condition and compelled to ask the citizens of the Western State, through him, to give them corn to keep them and their families from starving. The two lists comprised 279 names."

THE PLEASURES OF SECESSION.—A Southern gentleman who resides in Augusta, Ga., writes thus to the National Intelligencer: "If the South were merely left alone for six months, we would probably try to get the next general election to get back. The new tariff will open both eyes and pockets--three to four cents on the pound on cheese, four to five cents on butter, two to three and a half cents on sugar, two and a half to twenty-five cents on tobacco, effect every one, and that sensibly. Prices have advanced, and are still ascending. Our regular army has one hundred and forty thousand in this city, and as many in Savannah. Nine-tenths of our youth go constantly armed, and the common use of deadly weapons is quite disregarded. No control can be exercised over a lad after he is fourteen or fifteen. He becomes Mr. So-and-so, and acknowledges no master. While our free trade doubles our tariff, our postal postage will probably be raised to ten or twenty-five cents, and off the immediate line of the railways there will probably be as much as one mail a week. Of course, therefore, we will like secession the better as we become the better acquainted with it."

OBITUARY NOTICES.

DIED.—At her residence in Berlin township Holmes county, Ohio, on Thursday, Feb. 26th A. D. 1861, of cholera, Mrs. MARGARET RAINSBURG, widow of WILLIAM RAINSBURG, aged 57 years and 11 days.

MARGARET RAINSBURG was born in Brook county, Virginia, Feb. 15, A. D. 1804. A few years after her birth her parents, John and Ruth Maxwell, moved to Eastern Ohio, where she passed her youth and womanhood. At an early age she became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and was a devoted and active member thereof. She never left her home, yet she never enjoyed those blessings and helps only found in a public confession of Religion and connection within the pale of some branch of the Christian Church. She, however, months ago made a personal dedication of her soul and body to God, for Christ's sake had accepted the sacrifice. Oct. 1st A. D. 1854, at the residence of her parents, in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, she married WILLIAM RAINSBURG, with whom she resided to this county, where she lived in the enjoyment of the general esteem and confidence of her neighbors and friends--a loving companion and an indulgent mother--until the day of her death. G. SECHRIST'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

THE BEST PREPARATION KNOWN FOR THE HUMAN HAIR. WILL restore white or gray hair to its original color. Will remove all itching. Will remove all dandruff. Will make the hair soft and glossy. Will make the hair appear younger again. Will preserve their hair to old age. Will always make it, and stop its falling and is one of the best toilet articles in use.

Read the following Certificate. Of Judge D. R. Tilden, who is well known throughout Northern Ohio. CLEVELAND, July 11, 1859. Messrs. H. R. and G. Sechrist--I have had a bottle of your Hair Restorative. I obtained it to prevent my hair from falling off, not supposing that it would restore the color, my hair being very gray, but to my very great surprise it has not only prevented my hair from falling, but has restored it to its natural color. I had an aversion to being gray, and had made use of Wood's, Mrs. Allen's and other Hair Dyes, but without success.

I have no hesitation in saying that this preparation of yours is, in every respect, superior to anything of the kind now in the market. Will you please send me a gallon of the Restorative by Express, and the price, and I will send you the money by mail. Yours truly, DAN'L R. TILDEN. Prepared by HELPER & SECHRIST, Akron, O.
